How People Avoid Making Serious Decisions In The Histories, written in 450 B.C., Herodotus makes the following statement: "If an important decision is to be made [the Persians] discuss the question when they are drunk and the following day the master of the house...submits their decision for reconsideration when they are sober. Chapter 3 Consumer Behavior: How People Make Buying Decisions. Why do you buy the things you do? How did you decide to go to the college you're attending? Where do like to shop and when? Do your friends shop at the same places or different places? Decision making lies at the heart of our personal and professional lives. Every day we make decisions. Some are small, domestic, and innocuous. Others are more important, affecting people's ... In the Viking Age, things were the public assemblies of the free men of a country, province, or a hundred (Swedish: härad, hundare, Danish: hurred). They functioned as both parliaments and courts at different levels of society—local, regional, and supra-regional. Their purpose was to solve disputes and make political decisions, and thing sites were also often the place for public religious ...
